Paloma Leather

Paloma is a slightly corrected leather with a combination of dyes and pigments that smoothes some of the leather's structure (grain pattern). However, the grain structure of Paloma may vary slightly at some parts of the furniture, and minor colour nuances may also occur. Natural marks, scars and insect bites remain and will appear in Paloma. A thin coat of lacquer gives Paloma some protection and simplifies cleaning, but Paloma does not have the same heavy-duty quality and protection as Batick. Due to its soft, natural and comfortable expression, Paloma is a very popular choice.

Noblesse Leather

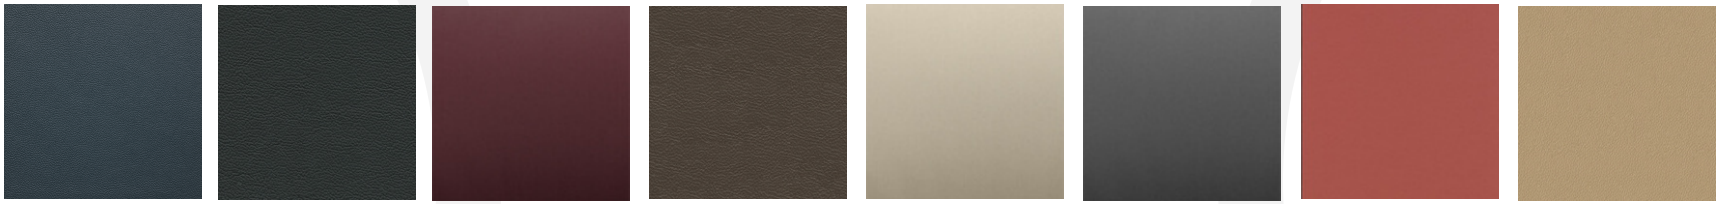

Noblesse is the most exclusive quality leather offered by Stressless. A full grain semi-aniline, it is dyed all the way through and has only a thin protective topcoat. This enables the leather to retain the natural softness and lustre that characterises a first-class furniture leather. A natural material like Noblesse retains its original grain and structure. Minor colour nuances and skin blemishes may also occur. Such individual details may lead to slight variations at different parts of the furniture. Although the topcoat provides a certain level of protection, Noblesse is the most delicate of the leathers used by Ekornes. It absorbs moisture easily, and is more vulnerable to wear and tear, heat, sunlight, spills and perspiration. Regular maintenance is important to maintain its attractive appearance.

Batick Leather

Batick is a corrected, pigment-improved and grain-embossed upholstery leather, which has had most of its natural marks removed. Batick may have a two-tone colour effect to liven up the surface. Batick is resistant to fading, although changes in colour will occur over time with use and exposure to light. A protective layer of lacquer simplifies cleaning. Simple cleaning, excellent utilisation properties and a favourable price make Batick a good choice.

Velaro Leather

Velaro is a sophisticated, full-bodied leather that beautifully balances elegance and natural character. Its refined grain and silky-smooth touch give it an inviting, luxurious appeal.

Crafted with care, the leather is dyed through and only lightly corrected, preserving its authentic texture and organic beauty. A subtle two-tone finish and delicate tip-shine effect enhance each shade, adding both depth and luminosity. While the light embossing helps create a consistent surface, natural variations in grain, markings, and color are to be expected—signatures of genuine leather craftsmanship.

Despite its robust nature, Velaro remains exceptionally soft and supple to the touch. A thin protective topcoat offers mild stain resistance and easier cleaning, though it maintains a more natural finish than heavily pigmented leathers, resulting in a timeless blend of comfort, sophistication, and authenticity.
